

Men's Program Counsellor

We are looking for an innovative counsellor with strong networking skills to expand the Male Domestic Abuse Outreach Project (MDAOP). This is an exciting project with great opportunity for increasing awareness of a critical issue through the creation of effective outreach programs and building relationships with diverse populations while offering support and advocacy, for males experiencing domestic abuse.

This role requires a self-starter with an entrepreneurial flair. Strong interpersonal skills are used while participating on a variety of committees in cultural, men's services, and domestic violence communities.

Responsibilities:

- Network and expand the awareness of the program and its mandate
- Outreach, support and advocacy for male victims of domestic violence
- Counselling for male victims of violence
- Facilitate groups for both males and females who have experienced abuse and/or male and female aggressors
- Participate in project-related research, both direct and indirect
- Engage and liaise with service providers who are most likely to encounter male victims
- Increase awareness of services for men in domestic abuse relationships
- Attend relevant Calgary and area domestic violence committees.
- Identify and track themes and issues for men
- Conduct needs assessments for men in domestic abuse relationships
- Develop awareness of other initiatives in North America and globally.

Qualifications:

- Master's degree preferred with registration with accrediting body; BSW with experience will be considered
- Minimum 2 – 3 years of experience in domestic violence
- Experience working with men, as well as trauma and crisis work
- Knowledge of Calgary and area family violence service agencies
- Ability to work across a variety of settings and organizations
